Smith. A sci-fi noir, it is the story of RASL, an art thief who jumps to parallel universes in attempts to steal famous paintings, but runs into danger as he is pursued by the government. RASL draws influences from real-life events, people, and places, including Nikola Tesla, Southwestern Native American culture, and hardboiled crime fiction. The book's

RASL tells the story of this guy, Rasl, who travels across parallel universes stealing and selling art. Rasl was once a scientist named Robert, who used the lost journals of Nikola Tesla to invent a machine, kind of like a jet pack, that he can use to travel back and forth between parallel worlds.
